Champion Johnny Kilbane has a couple of jobs cut out for him in New York in the next two or three weeks. On May 14 Abo Attell's conqueror made his first appearance in the metropolis, meeting Frankie Burns in a bout the full scheduled ten rounds. Burns probably is the best 118-pounder in the east, but in spite of that Johnny did not have much trouble with him. The champion's superb skill was called upon to keep him out of danger, and he is so conscientious in his training that he went into the ring for this fight, just as he has for all his matches, in the very best of condition. He has a much harder proposition on his hands in his affairs two weeks later with Knockout Brown. He is conquering several pounds to Brown. Because of his awkward right-extended style and his "cross eye" Brown is an exceptionally difficult chap to gauge. He is a slugging style fighter, who tears in and swings from his hips. When he does connect there's likely to be damage done. It's going to keep Kilbane hustling all the time to stay out of harm's way.

If Walter Johnson could only pitch every other day for Washington the team would surely be up in the first division. Johnson is working his head off for Griffith, and when Johnson works he works.

A Philadelphia man has doped out a scheme by which he says he can live on $1 a week.

But he forgets to include a ticket to the ball game and a bet or two on the bang tails.

OPPORTUNITY TO SEE BIG AEROPLANE RACE

Proposed Aero Club of America's Air Race in September to Pass Over Janesville.

According to the route indicated by the Aero Club of America for their great international air race some time in September, residents of Janesville and to the south will doubtless have an opportunity of seeing some of the big advances as they pass through the skies enroute from Milwaukee to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the third central station.

France, Great Britain, Germany, all have had their great aerial circuit races, and each has reaped its reward in increased public interest in aerial travel and in other things pertaining to aeronautics. Now comes the announcement, according to the Aero Club of America Bulletin of June to the effect that in co-operation with aero clubs of Illinois, Michigan, Milwaukee, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indiana, Cincinnati and Ohio, the Aero Club of America intends to give the states its first international circuit and in addition to make the course a longer route than has ever been attempted abroad.

The international race for the Gordon Bennett aviation trophy—the blue ribbon of the air—will occur near Chicago early in September, and will concentrate in this country the most noted flyers of the world. As the international circuit will be held immediately afterward, with extraordinary prizes, these, and other aviators from abroad, will enter and contest with Americans supremacy in cross country flying.

The circuit will be divided into sections with intermediate controls. Each section will end at a large city where aviators will stop over night. As aviators will be arriving at various hours one day and leaving the next, each city at the end of a section will practically have two full days of flying.

The circuit is to be open to licensed pilots of all nationalities who will be free from injunction under the Wright patents, arrangements having been made with the Wright company to this effect.

The prizes will probably amount to $100,000 and will include a grand prize of $25,000, second prize of $5,000, third prize of $2,500.

Among the other prizes proposed to be given are:

For first and second machines to reach the end of each section.

For the American built and flown machine first to complete the circuit.

For minimum horsepower required to complete the course.

First to complete course with a passenger.

Best wireless demonstrations.

Greatest number of wireless messages delivered.

Best maps and topographical descriptions, drawn enroute.

First aeroplane fitted with automatic stabilizer to complete the circuit.

The machine completing the circuit having most of its officially stamped parts.

In drawing the regulations to govern this event, the committee in charge will endeavor to make it a conclusive test of everything that goes to make aeroplaning practicable.

The program outlined above is sufficient to show that the circuit will include many useful and interesting features never before embraced in a similar event. Especial effort will be made to bring out the various qualities of the aeroplanes which are of practical use, to the end that the contest may lead to better methods of flying than are now in vogue and to a faster appreciation of the value of flight than is now generally possessed in America.

Red Sox Park Dedicated.

Boston, Mass., May 16.—Fenway Park the new home of the Boston American league baseball club, was formally dedicated this afternoon with the initial game of the season between the home team and the Chicago White Sox. The presence of the Governor of Massachusetts and the Mayor of Boston, together with a band, flag-raising and other accompaniments, added to the brilliancy of the occasion.

How "Lo" Explained It.

In the early days of the Klondike gold-fields, the miners lived almost wholly on canned goods brought from the United States and Canada.

To an old Indian who frequented the diggings, the cans were a constant surprise—the meat, vegetables and fish all amazed him. When the first photograph was imported, however, he had come to consider himself wise in the ways of the paleface. After listening gravely to a song by the machine, he said, with the assurance of one to whom everything is entirely clear, "He canned white man."—Youth's Companion.

CINCINNATI REDS, LED BY HANK O'DAY, ARE EATING UP EVERYTHING IN SIGHT

The Cincinnati Reds are about the "biggest wonder" in the baseball world. Last year they never were able to get out of a "seer" division; in fact, the team has been booted about like a bean down for many years. Now the team is at the head of the league, with prospects good for remaining there. A lot of credit is due Hank O'Day, this season's manager.

ANDREW SOCKALEXIS IN THE MARATHON

Andrew Sockalexis.

Andrew Sockalexis, the Old Town Indian, who ran second in the Boston A. A. Marathon this year, will in all likelihood go to Sweden with the American team. He stands about an good a chance as anyone to win the Marathon event in the Olympic games. He has grit, endurance and plugging ability, and is being favored on the theory that a runner can make good only a definite number of times in Marathons; that every 25-mile grind takes just so much out of him and lessens his chance of winning in some future occasion. Sockalexis is a fairly green runner two years ago, and has competed in but three Marathons.

In Praise of Tolerance.

Blended be tolerance, sitting over on the right hand of God, to guide the way with loving word, as blessed be all that brings us nearer the goal of true religion, true republicanism and true patriotism.—Henry Watterson.

Reflections and Flowers.

If you would always achieve the best effects with your flower decorations you should consider which of the colors you have to select from will take most kindly to artificial lights. Some qualities of electric lights show the colors almost as by daylight, while others produce different effects. Blues and violets are to be avoided, as they take on a dull appearance when spread beneath the glow of the artificial lights. With blue tones, however, the color is intensified and there are some shades of purple which tend themselves well to such lighting. If you would be sure and safe in your choice of decorations, white, red and yellow flowers are at their best under any lighting effect, whether it be daylight or artificial light.

Gained Their Point.

The girl students in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts have had a concession granted and may now smoke cigarettes in a little room especially dedicated to that purpose. They had been ordered not to smoke in the corridors, as "fought it out" with the directors, gaining what they call a "moral victory."

Look for the Good Points.

If you find yourself thinking more of the bad points of your friends and relatives than of their good ones, just stop a moment and ask yourself how you would like people to get into a habit of doing the same with you? Then start again right away and do better next time. Everybody has good points—try to see them!—Helen Chat.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

"Woman's Legal Status in Wisconsin," as compiled in the article by Mrs. M. A. R. Smith, read before the Dane County Women's Suffrage League last week, disclosed some interesting conditions which may be of use to Janesville women interested in the suffrage movement. Mrs. Smith divided her subject into three parts: the political rights, the property rights and the personal rights of women in this state and explains them by the question and answer method, all her answers being based on personal reading of the statutes. She is having her paper printed in pamphlet form.

Interesting explanations regarding political rights are made. In answer to "Who is a citizen?" reply is made, "The constitution says: All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the laws are citizens of the United States and the state in which they reside." The courts have repeatedly recognized that this provision makes woman a citizen as well as man.

Q. Then, why may she not vote?

A. She is disfranchised—classified politically with children, idiots, lunatics, Indians, convicts and traitors.

Q. What does disfranchisement mean?

A. It means "to deprive of a citizen's privileges, especially of the right to vote."

J. Who disfranchises woman, and by what authority?

A. Man disfranchised her without authority except that of arbitrary power and superior strength.

J. May those disfranchised classes ever secure or recover full citizen's rights?

A. Children may grow to legal maturity; lunatics may recover their senses; convicts may be pardoned; Indians may sever their tribal connections; but woman has no recourse or appeal except to the growing intelligence and justice of man.

Q. Has woman any form of suffrage at the present time?

A. She has. She may vote on all questions pertaining to school matters, even to bonding the city for necessary school buildings. She may vote for state superintendent of schools; for county superintendent and for all school officers where there are elected by the people.

Q. May any foreign born woman become citizen?

A. Any foreign born woman except a Chinese may be naturalized the same as a man. Or if she marry a citizen of the United States she thereby becomes a citizen.

Regarding a woman's property rights, the following is of interest: The wife after marriage owns all the clothes and personal property owned by her before marriage; she may own her own wages earned outside of the home but cannot enforce payment for the home work. A wife's separate property cannot be levied on for family necessities ordered by her even under her individual promise to pay, while she is living with her husband. A married woman may sue in her own name and shall be liable to be sued the same as if she were unmarried. She may also make contracts for the purpose of creating for herself a separate estate or enter legal right whatever while her husband's consent. The wife has no legal right whatever while her husband lives in the guardianship and control of the children in matters pertaining to choice of church, school, clothing, medicine and work.

Eighteen years is the legal age at which a woman may marry in Wisconsin. If under that age she must have the consent in person or writing of the parents or guardians if either is living.

Women may be members of board of education, from the board of regents of the state university down to the rural school districts. They may also be county superintendents of schools; seventeen women holding that office in Wisconsin at present. In the rural schools, the women receive about two thirds the salary of the men teachers.

Women may be admitted to the practice of law and medicine in Wisconsin and also to several appointive offices such as court commissioner, notary public, assessor and receiver. Matrons, women physicians and nurses are employed in the state institutions for women and girls. In the county jails, there are so few women prisoners that no matrons are employed. A woman may be a member of the board of control of state charitable institutions.

Adulteration in Olden Days.

In Pliny there may be found an account of the manner in which the makers of Rome were alleged to mix with their dough a white earth, soft to the touch and sweet to the taste, thus putting out a foodstuff that had weight and appearance; but little food value. The same writer also touches upon wine adulteration. Pliny says that not even the wealthy Roman noble could be sure that the wine he bought was pure. Indeed, the most famous wines were doctored; and and wines from Gaul, generally held to be of the best, were, as a matter of fact, artificially colored with aloes and other drugs.—Harper's Weekly.

Postman "Gave it to Him."

A substitute mail carrier was making an unaccustomed route, and was on the lookout for vicious dogs. As he went into a yard the woman of the house opened the door, and a small bulldog ran out. The postman retreated, but the woman stopped him by calling, "Give it to him!" When the dog bounded up the carrier kicked him end over end. "Oh, you have killed my dog," the woman shrieked. The postman defended his action by saying, "Lady, you said 'Give it to him,' and I did, good and hard, too." She snapped, "I meant for you to give him my letter, you idiot."

22. M. Markham, 521 W. Mill St., Winona, Minn., was cured of a severe case of kidney trouble and says: "My kidney action was too frequent, and I lost much sleep by it. I could not even carry a small load. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they first gave great relief and then cured me. I gladly recommend them for what they did for me." Badger Drug Co.

At The Theatre

MONTE CARLO GIRLS.

The real burlesque show, the real laughing show and the real beauty show, namely the "Monte Carlo Girls" is coming to the Myers theatre on Thursday, May 10. It is said to be better than ever, carrying a company of 25 people (Mostly pretty girls) new costumes, the latest song hits, now bright and gingers dancing numbers, and two new burlesques entitled "At Monte Carlo" and "Looking for a Wife." Welch & Poldo the famous funny fellows in Hebrew character part, have again been engaged and as there are very few on the American stage today who are their equal in producing good wholesome laughter, the boys are sure of a good run for their money. Many high class vaudeville acts will be shown during the action of the piece, among them one by our old favorite La Neta who will present one of her dances, also Hopper and Riven!

"Ein Glucklicher Familienvater."

As has been their yearly custom, members of the Pabst Theatre stock company of Milwaukee, will this spring again undertake a short trip through the middle states.

On Friday evening, May 17, the company intends to present in Janesville for one night only, the star performance "Ein Glucklicher Familienvater" ("The Happy Family Father") a musical farce in three acts by C. A. Goussier. This imperturbable comedy has lately experienced an unprecedented run in the best theaters of Germany.

The author of "The Family Father" has understood better than anyone to reproduce natural characters on the stage. He was one of the last worthy representatives of the old school.

In the play the author shows us the married life of a henpecked artist, who is easily induced by his ever-giving friend Max Lichtheim. This friend who is so fortunate as to possess a rich uncle, is a confirmed bachelor, who has made up his mind never to get married, notwithstanding his uncle's wishes to the contrary. In writing to his uncle, he deceives him, however, by telling him he was happily married and the proud father of a child. The unsuspecting and kind uncle is delighted and keeps on sending him extra allowances, until he (the uncle), after getting over a spell of sickness, announces his intention of coming to Berlin to visit with his nephew. In his despair, the nephew refuses. Here comes her mischievous sister to the rescue, who has designed for some time past, to change the careless bachelor into a steady-going spouse. She agrees to play the husband's wife and does it so perfect and charmingly, that the uncle becomes enraptured and decides to stay with them for good. In consequence, all sorts of confusion and droll situations arise, due also to the fact that the uncle has taken everything for granted which the nephew wrote him in his letters. He thinks the artist's baby belongs to his nephew, but the baby's mother refuses to be a party to the deception and the uncle does not know what to make of it. He becomes confidential with the artist who gets jealous of his wife and challenges his friend to a duel.

Finally, however, matters are explained, the nephew gets cured and really marries to the great satisfaction of his uncle.

The play offers the artists an opportunity to interpret appropriate topical songs. Mr. Paul Goussier in the role of Uncle Petermann, will sing a comic couplet, also Miss Forester in the role of Clara. Mrs. Kleemann brings the latest Berlin hit composed by Otto Reuter entitled, "Ach die Tiere hat kein Hausers als die Menschen auf der Welt," which literally translated means, "Oh, the beasts have it better than the human beings in this world." Aside from these, Miss Forester and Mr. Kleemann will sing the matrimonial duet.

Those who wish to spend a real pleasant, entertaining and enjoyable evening, should not fail to secure their seats in time. At Myers Theatre, Friday evening, May 17.

Picturesque Career of Chas. W. Morse.

Morse was born in Bath, Me., in 1852.

He wanted to go to college, but his father couldn't afford it. He earned money by selling candy and notions and went to Bowdoin college, from which he graduated in 1877.

In 1891 he gained control of the ice business of New York City.

He consolidated all the ice companies—twenty-one in all—of New York City in 1892, and put an end to all competition.

He made friends with Tammany Hall in 1895, and began to gain control of banks, trust companies and steamship lines.

He gained control of eighty-one steamships and thirteen banks and trust companies.

He put up the price of ice 100 per cent to the poor.

rumors about the Morse chain of banks started in 1907. One by one some of them went into the hands of receivers. Involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy were started. The Bank of North America, through Morse's friend, hurried to Europe. On his return was arrested and indicted, 1907.

In 1908 he was found guilty of using bank funds for his private purposes and was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

In 1912 he was pardoned by President Taft.

New York. — When Charles W. Morse, frenzied financier, left New York in early February for Europe, his friends thought little that in four months he would return to his native land to enter again to the business world which he left in 1908 to do time in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta. The pardon which he received at the hands of President Taft was granted on the strength of certificates of doctor stating he was suffering from ailments which would in all likelihood prove fatal within a few months.

Now the news comes to New York that Morse is coming home—at least by the first of June—in better physical condition than he has been in for a long time. That he intends to go back into business with his old time vim and try conclusions with President Mollen and the New Haven Railroad Company, which, he says, wrecked his hopes and his ambitions, since Morse has been in Europe he has been examined by only one physician, an eminent doctor of Rome, who agreed with the diagnosis of the American physicians, but differed essentially from their conclusions.

"The disease from which you are suffering may be arrested in their development," he told Morse. "Their progress may be arrested for years."

And accordingly they have been arrested. To anyone observing Morse casually, those who have seen him recently declare, he would appear to be far removed from the desperate physical state in which physicians declared him to be at the time he received his pardon. Three weeks on board ship, and three months more in the sunshine of Egypt and Southern Italy have given him a new count of face that is generally associated with robust health. He has gained twenty pounds in weight, and now, apparently, is about as heavy as he was when at the height of his prosperity.

Oh, Learned Judge.

A California judge decided that there is no judicial authority to keep a man from making love to his wife, although it could stop his beating her. The remarkable cause of this remarkable decision was that a woman in Los Angeles had applied for an injunction to restrain her husband from insisting on being attentive to her. This judge was not a Solomon, but he realized that only a Solomon could be trusted to rule upon the whims and inconsistencies of womankind.

P. R. Weiss, 1006 Forest St., Racine Wis., had an acute attack of kidney trouble and knew at once what would cure him. He says: My back ached and I was miserable, but I took Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days time my back was better. Now I am cured and have had no return of the trouble. Foley Kidney Pills did it." ## WHERE TO GO FISHING

This is the name of an attractive little booklet, a supply of which has recently come to the Gazette Travel Bureau. Those to whom the balmy breezes of spring days bring thoughts of this fascinating sport and to those who are planning a summer vacation spent in the Northern Lake region, this will be especially interesting.

The different lakes and streams which abound in all kinds of fish are described in an entertaining way and all information that would be necessary in making arrangements for a fishing trip to this country is embodied in the booklet mentioned above.

There are pictures of the different species of fish caught here with photographs of vacationists engaged in the sport and enchanting scenes in the lake region in summer. A map showing the location of lakes and streams described is given and also a copy of the fish laws for the season of 1912.

These and many other booklets taking up other parts of the country, beautiful to see and of interest to the traveler, are free to the public at

NO MORE MISERY IN THE STOMACH

Dyspepsia, Gas and Indigestion Vanish and Your Stomach Feels Fine in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapain costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave you sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapain is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Bilelessness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapain cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other stomach misery. Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

Amper Everywhere Admired.
The beauty and hardness of amber have long caused it to be esteemed by smokers. In Turkey as much as $1,500 is often given for a single monthpiece. Its value differs according to its tint and opacity. The most valuable is the opaque lemon colored. The rarest piece is a cube of amber belonging to the Shah of Persia. It is supposed by the devout Moslems to have fallen from heaven in Mohammed's time.

Much Work to Make One Doll.
It takes 80 men to make a German doll. Each man makes a small portion of a doll, but it is the same little bit all the time, and by this division of labor about 1,000 dozen dolls can be made in a day in some of the big factories. After the men finish the body of the doll, the women's work begins. They paint faces, put on wigs, dress the dolls, and pack them for market.

VEGETABLE SUPPLY STILL VERY SHORT

Demand Far Exceeds Supply of Fresh Garden Truck Which is Put Back by Continued Cold.

Home grown asparagus is still very short on the local markets because of the cold weather and scarcely any is to be had at any price, although green onions are plentiful and cheap. The asparagus needs a day or so of sunny weather to make it come along well and the continued cold keeps it from coming up fast enough to supply the demand. Most of the other home grown vegetables are also put back by the low temperature with the exception of onions which are offered in large quantities.

An increase of five cents a bunch in fresh carrots, making the price 10c a bunch, is the only change noticed on the local markets today. They read as follows:

SENSATIONAL BREAK ON CHICAGO MARKET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, May 16.—A sensational break in prices was witnessed during the last fifteen minutes of trading today on 'change. Wild selling of stocks sent wheat prices tumbling down as much as 1 1/2 cents a bushel, compared with last night. Corn lost 2 1/2 cents. Oats 2 1/2; and pork 8 cents.

The excitable action of the market was due to the fact that heavy sale of wheat on the part of two prominent concerns for the last two days, gave the trade too much of a lead to carry. In the end the resulting weakness spread to other staples and led to a general smash in prices. It is estimated that as much as ten million bushels of wheat had been unloaded on the market within forty-eight hours and that half of the huge total had come from a widely known speculator.

ANTICIPATE NO SHORTAGE IN FOREIGN WHEAT SUPPLY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., May 16.—The department of agriculture's summary of the foreign wheat situation issued today says: "Taking into account the wheat crop already secured in the Southern Hemisphere and that for the most part secured in India in connection with the outlook for winter and spring wheat together in Europe and in Canada, there does not at present seem to be any reason for apprehending a shortage in the foreign portion of the world's wheat supply for the coming harvest year."

The Afternoon Beauty Culture

SOME, if all about us is beautiful, the world is pleasant to live in, a woman should do all she can to make herself as much of a delight to the eye as possible.

It will be contended that most women do this and give more time and spend more money to the doing of it than they should. But while it is true that some women go to one extreme, it is also true that some women go to the other extreme. And in between these two points are found many women who are in the main indifferent as to the effect their appearance makes. Vanity is not a desirable trait of character, and over-indulgence in the things of the toilet and dress are not to be commended; but nevertheless, a dainty, attractive appearance has its value. And it can be acquired without necessarily becoming vain or wasting time. And every woman who achieves it is adding beauty to the world.

Many women who may wish to give more thought than they do to their appearance contend that they haven't time. But perhaps they can find time where they haven't yet looked for it. The housekeeper with many responsibilities usually has her mornings full. But the afternoons are long, and here it is that she may find the time to give heed to her personal appearance.

One of the most helpful things the busy worker can do is to get a little rest in the afternoon. If she can only snatch forty winks, if she does this regularly, it will wonderfully improve her appearance. This will be particularly helpful to the nervous woman, or the one who works under a strain. Such a rest will take the tension out of her face, restore color, and work wonders in keeping her young-looking. Besides, when she is rested, she is not likely to be irritable, as she is when tired. And she is ready for any evening amusement the family may want her to share in.

Again, the woman who thinks she has no time for beauty culture can accomplish much by doing a little each afternoon. She should not give up in despair and do nothing, because she feels the chance for accomplishing anything is so slim. But if a few minutes in an afternoon are given to manicuring her nails, and a few minutes another day to vigorously brushing her hair, and so on through the things that must be done, she'll be surprised at the good results.

Many a woman who has little time and yet envies regards the vain woman, makes the mistake of trying to do too much at once. She decides she'll take an afternoon and give herself a thorough overhauling. She shampoos her hair, manicures her nails, and does the many other little things, the dainty toilette requires; and then, when she goes how the hours have flown and how neglected duties are staring her in the face, she decides all at once that she really hasn't time for such foolishness. And henceforth, she gives it up. Whereas, a few minutes each afternoon would in the end have accomplished the same result and have never been missed from the doing of the regular work.

And since daintiness and freshness add so much to a woman's attractiveness, if there is no other time to give attention to acquiring them, why not try to make the afternoon yield a few minutes daily to add to the beauty of life.

TIPS FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER.

When washing lace curtains, put them to soak in cold water over night. Change the water several times in the morning, then put on to boil in clean cold water with borax, a teaspoonful to a quart; boil 15 minutes; then rinse in several waters until perfectly clean. Never wear curtains in the hands, as they are easily torn.

Rinse out silk stockings in soap suds before wearing them, and after each wearing; they will last much longer. Cold water and naphtha soap should be used.

Dip cheese and plum pudding in paraffine and it will keep moist indefinitely.

Use a garden trowel for packing ice and salt in the ice cream freezer.

Instead of sewing up a stuffed foot use tooth picks, and lace the string back and forth; the tooth picks and string may be easily removed without tearing the foot.

Wet the edge of the lower crust of pastry when putting in fruit in a pie. It keeps the juices from escaping.

Beats dropped in cold water after boiling may be easily peeled; the skins slip off with a touch.

A tablespoonful of coffee to a gravy will add color when the sauce lacks the caramel color.

Put your zucchini, buried in the ground in their pots in the sun, watering every night all summer and in the winter you will be rewarded with plenty of blossoms.

Rub soap into the nails when working in the garden and when the hands are washed there will be no stained nails.

Thread in a box or basket often causes much trouble by unwinding. Wrap the thread, once around the spool and then under itself and it will not unroll, but can be used from the spool.

Thread to be used in making buttonholes should be 20 sizes coarser than that used in making the garment. For example, if 80 thread is used for the garment, 60 should be used for the buttonholes.

Alpine Flowers of Mt. Rainier.

Thousands of feet above the sea level, on Mt. Rainier, in the state of Washington, there is a wonderful natural garden of wild flowers. Some of them grow at the very brink of the glaciers, and others even push their way up through melting snow fields in late spring. These little known species would greatly enrich our alpine gardens if we could find out how to transplant and acclimatize them, and undoubtedly some day we shall learn.—Country Life in America.

Heart and Home Problems

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My husband is generally considerate and thoughtful, but I am very much troubled by a difficulty that has arisen between us. I like to have the window of the sleeping room wide open at night in order to get the fresh air, and he insists that a little space of three or four inches is enough. If I open the window, he puts it down again, and then we argue about it until we are tired. This has been going on for months. It seems like a small matter, but I am getting very wrought up about it. Is there anything I can do, or is he right?

WIFE.

Judging from what you say, you have the sensible side of the argument. You might suggest to your husband that he put on an extra cover, if that fails to interest him, and he is still obstinate, why not send him to another room where he can have as much or as little air as he likes?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My girl and I once declared we would never marry anyone who smoked. Most of the interesting young men we know have this fault, and we fear we may be old maids if we stick to our vow. What do you suggest?

BERNICE.

If the only men who had a chance to marry were those who did not smoke, the crop of bachelors and spinsters would increase enormously. Smoking is harmful to youths, but the doctors say that unless carried to excess, it does not harm a grown man. It may well be regarded as a disagreeable habit, but since we cannot reform the men, we are perforce

BIG INTEREST FROM SMALL INVESTMENTS.

A WOMAN came home from a shopping expedition to a house full of work, dog tired.

"It seems as if I simply must lie down and rest two or three hours," she said wearily.

"Why don't you?" asked her neighbor.

"How can I?" said the woman. "Look at all I've got to do before dinner. I never ought to have gone off and left my work, but I felt as if I must take advantage of that sale."

"Well, lie down and rest ten minutes," said the neighbor.

"I can't spare ten minutes," said the woman doggedly, and she donned her apron and went wearily to work.

Whereby she proved that, like most women, she was ignorant of the tremendous interest which a small investment in relaxation at just the right moment will pay.

The value of little rests and relaxations is something the average woman does not seem to understand. If she cannot rest an hour or two, she will not rest at all. She looks out and sees that it is a beautiful morning and feels that she would like to go off for an outing, but it never occurs to her that half an hour's walk would freshen her up and make life much more livable.

If you finish some task and find that you are tired out, before you face the next, throw yourself on the couch and absolutely relax for ten or fifteen minutes. You will not lose those minutes; on the contrary, you will get them back with interest in your greater facility.

If you have brain work to do and your brain is confused or excited, lay your task aside, and pick up some "easy" book, and read for fifteen minutes or a half hour.

If you come home from some expedition tired out and have work awaiting you, spend five minutes bathing your face in hot water and ten minutes just relaxing, then drink a little warm milk, or eat some other simple lunch, and see how different the world looks.

Five minutes' complete rest before eating when you are very tired will double the nutritive value of your meal.

You have probably heard of the new science of scientific management which aims to so improve working conditions that a much larger output per man will be possible. An experiment was made with a man who was leading a pig team. He was offered large wages to do a certain task. But he was not left to himself to do it. If he had been, the investigator points out, "he would have kept so steadily at his work that his muscles would not have had the proper periods of rest absolutely needed for recuperation, and he would have been completely exhausted early in the day." To prevent this, a man who understood the law of rest stood over him and told him when to work and when to rest. As a result of this schedule the man loaded 47½ tons a day as against 12½ under the old system—a gain of approximately 400%.

That is one example of the value of little rests at the right moment. Verily rest is sapient.

DINNER STORIES

An Alabama negro, who had spent several years as a servant in a New York family, returning to his home, attempted to instruct members of his family in correct usage, especially in their language. One day at the table his brother said to him: "Gimme some 'lasses, Sam."

"You must say 'lasses,'" corrected Sam, "I heard a perfectly good anecdote. It was about 'Thad Stevens. Stevens, then running the government during the Civil War, was walking down Pennsylvania avenue one morning with a colleague. They stopped in at George Barker's place, across from the old Willard, for a toddy, and before leaving 'Thad toyed for a few minutes with the lady bank and won $100—a hundred dollar bill. Retaining his walk, he was 'necessitated off the capital steps by a Quaker delegation from Pennsylvania, some of his constituents, who said they were interested in the worthy charity in his district, and would like to receive a contribution. 'Thad took the hundred dollar bill from his pocket and, with a grand flourish, handed it to the spokesman, who was profuse in his thanks. Turning away, Mr. Stevens said to his companion, 'God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform.' 'Well, I liked that anecdote. The more I thought of it the more I liked it, and finally I became interested in the career of Stevens and wrote his biography. But, do you know, after it was published I discovered that I had forgot to put the anecdote in the book.'"

A noted professor of music was supervising the work of an orchestra at rehearsal and he became much annoyed with the conductor for his erratic use of the baton. Stopping the band, he said to the culprit: "Altitano Jones, you would make a beautiful conductor, for see omnibus; you was always behind."

It was a girl from Iceland who was sent to a Harlem flat by an employment agent to do the housework. The mistress asked her to state her accomplishments. She could not cook, it seemed, nor wash dishes, nor do the weekly wash, nor make beds, nor sweep, nor dust. "Then, what in the world can you do?" asked the exasperated housewife. "Well," said the girl, shyly, "Ay skoll milk da reindeer."

In Germantown one evening as a family sat grouped about the library table, the little son looked up from his book and asked: "Papa, what is an egotist?" "An egotist," the father answered, "is a man who thinks he is cleverer than any one else." But the mother laughing coldly appended: "No, my son, that is not quite right. An egotist is a man who says he is cleverer than any one else—every man thinks he is."

Revolutionary.

"Kato is a perfect crank on woman's rights." "Believes that women are equal to men, eh?" "Superior! Why, do you know, she never plays cards without insisting that the queen shall take the king."

TODAY'S RIDDLE

NO TONGUES?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Not long ago I met a boy I liked, and I asked him to call. He did so, and we were having a good time, when at ten o'clock my father sang out from his bedroom, "Tan o'clock, Nellie, time for the young man to go home." He went, and I haven't seen him since. What can be done in a case like that?

NELLIE.

You might make a trace with your father, agreeing that in case he will frighten away no more callers, you will see that they leave in good season. He did wrong to embarrass your friend and yourself.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Who should go first in leaving a street car, a woman or her male escort?

A. W. S.

It is customary for the man to go first, to open a way for the woman.

THE REASON WHY

BY DOROTHY LACE

The election primaries are showing men and women they have a disease they never suspected before. Blindness, the election judges say, is a mental blindness. The judges can give out a ballot, but they can't give the sight to use it intelligently. The namps are on the lists and it's easy enough to mark them. That isn't the trouble, but people are suddenly waking up to the fact that they have the full power to select a candidate and there they stand, ballot in hand, confused because they hadn't taken the trouble before voting time to decide which men they wanted and why.

This trouble didn't exist when bosses picked out the candidates. Bosses were not afflicted with that kind of blindness. They know whom they wanted and why and will be willing to do the selecting again if the voters want them to. Otherwise it's up to the average citizen to cure himself of this blindness showing the trouble much further back in the cranial than the optical nerve. If he wonders how he ever got into the habit of letting things run along without going to work to set them straight before let him look backward, several years back, or out over his neighborhood today.

A big boy, say, catches a smaller one, blinds his hands and feet, and then pushes him around, aquita water in his ears or down his back and otherwise maltreats him. You inquire what on earth he did such a thing for and he answers, "Oh, it's just imitation. Just to show him. It's only fun."

Usually your interference stops there because you don't think it serious or because you didn't find it out till it seemed too late. Then the big boy went on bullying and the little one was keeping quiet from fear.

And there you have the beginning of the later blinding and tying because the boy bully wasn't led to see anything but the delight in his power and the pestered fellow wasn't led to see that by using his wits and combining intelligently with the other pestered fellows they could rout the bully.

But suppose you catch the little bully and show him how fun is only fun when it brings pleasure to all concerned. Also, that any lasting hurt to the little boys will send him to a reformatory and spoil his whole life, his answer, "I did it because I didn't think I'm sorry," shows how to get hold of him. And suppose you show the little fellow that he must not be cowed, because the fight was not fair and he can make it fair and win by adding his wits to his fists of other boys' fists to his, you'll set him the fashion of thinking too, a process that takes anyone out of the realm of the blind.

Or perhaps it is girls, blinding and being bound by snobbery. They are just as prone to blindness.

You remember how Cato, the elder, ended every speech in the Roman senate, no matter on what the subject he was talking, with "Carthago must be destroyed." All the war that blighted the African city was roused? "The Reason Why" will start a "blindness must be destroyed" slogan in every home if you will let it. Don't miss it.

Poor Kind of Optimism.

It is useless to hope for the best if you are determined to keep thinking that the worst always happens.

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts Regarding Health Statistics.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1910. In the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Piquette, N. Y. Mention this paper and they will gladly forward it to you absolutely free, by mail.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

PROHIBITION PARTY PREPARES TO FIGHT

Plan to Thoroughly Campaign Wisconsin Before Election This Fall.

The prohibitionists are no elated over the showing made by them at the recent primaries and local elections that they are beginning the fall campaign with much enthusiasm. On April 2 they polled more votes in Madison than in any previous election, twenty-five per cent of the total for mayor and fourteen per cent for the rest of the ticket. They polled 254 out of 640 votes for mayor of Goodhue, two-thirds of the total vote in the town of Bloom in Richland county, eighteen per cent of the vote in Elkhorn, by far the largest vote ever cast in Milwaukee in favor of the hot light on between the non-partisans and the socialists and elected a complete town ticket in Norrie by a vote of 123 to 61. All of these were distinctly prohibition party votes and not local option elections. In addition to this the party cast 5,297 votes at the preferential presidential primary against less than 2,100 at the gubernatorial primary in 1910.

Eugene W. Chaffin, who was the prohibition candidate for president in 1908, and is the first choice of Wisconsin prohibitionists for the same nomination this year, will begin a whirlwind campaign of public meetings and county conventions for thirty days, commencing with the state convention at Madison, June 11 and 12. As an indication of the hopeful spirit manifest among the "drys," Secretary Tynan states that everyone of these conventions and public meetings—seventy-one in number—have been arranged entirely by correspondence, something unusual for such an exhaustive trip. County conventions at which delegates will be elected to the state convention will be held at the following places: Friday, May 10, Black River Falls; Tuesday, May 14, Hudson; Wednesday, May 15, Chippewa Falls; Thursday, May 16, Cameron; Friday, May 17, Medford; Monday, May 20, Grand Rapids; Friday, May 24, Wausau; Saturday, May 25, Appleton; Monday, May 27, Green Lake; Tuesday, May 28, Sheboygan county; Friday, May 31, Juda (Green county); Saturday, June 1, Deland Center; Monday, June 3, Livingston.

In addition to this he will address public meetings at the following places: Augustus, Menomonee, Louisville, Forest City, Fall City, Prescott, Clear Lake, Chetek, Ladysmith, Phillips, Spencer, Thorp, Stevens Point, Marshfield, Waupun, Green Bay, De Pere, Algoma, Sturgeon Bay, Peshigo, Marinette, Waupun, Oshkosh, Waukegan, Winneconne, Fond du Lac, Racine, Union Grove, Janesville, Lake Geneva, Beloit, Albany, Monroe, Wyoming, Arena, Mizwaukee, Sun Prairie, Monfort, Dodgeville, Portage, Poynton, Waukesha, Cottage Grove, Harrison, Reedsburg, Tomah, Sparta, Evansville, Muscoda.

At the conclusion of the Chaffin meeting the state convention will convene in the assembly chamber at Madison. The call provides for about eight hundred delegates. Women as well as men will be chosen. The convention will select additional delegates to the national convention as provided for by the national call, formulate a platform and select candidates for the state primary election in September. It will open with a popular banquet on Monday evening, June 10, in the University Y. M. C. A. dining rooms.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE HOUSE CAT.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE house cat is a domestic animal which comes in several different colors, and is used to hokle woman in her hour of ease. Some house cats are more domestic than others and surround themselves with bright clusters of kittens in a very appalling and frequent manner. The kitten is a cross between a tumbling and a diving pillow, and is unable to see anything but its appetite for supper. It is a day after its arrival. Thousands of innocent, half-headed kittens are suffocated every year by people who become tired of enrolling around behind the cook stove and a d d sparring them with a corn broom. When the kittens become old enough to call each other by their first names and sharpen their claws on somebody's neck, the mother cat loses interest in their future and introduces a new edition to the family circle. There are a good many things about the house cat which are objectionable to people of refined tastes. One of these is her habit of walking over a plate of fried chicken in search of the giblets, a practice which tends to ruin the mind of a delicate guest away from the main course. The color with which she throws an untimely and facile fit on the dining room floor, just when somebody is saying grace, is another discouraging tendency which dims her popularity to some extent. Most women prefer cats to men because they do not push their plate away and follow it up with unfeeling remarks about the seasonings. The house cat is the soul of undaunted courage, and will back a Newfoundland dog against the gaol stove and claw until he takes the count. It is a dangerous thing to stop on the uneasy tail of a house cat while she is leaping at something for she is liable to turn and rend the steppes in the calf of the leg. It is a very easy matter to move the house cat from one place to another, as she is provided with a rubber handle located in the back of her neck. Cats have nine lives, but people who take one usually leave the other eight alone.

PROTECTING CATTLE FROM FLIES IS MOST IMPORTANT.

Prof. G. C. Humphrey, of Wisconsin College of Agriculture makes the following suggestions as to flies:

The annoyance of animals by flies is one of the unpleasant features of the summer time for cattlemen, especially dairymen. Men are continually seeking information and means for overcoming this annoyance. To accomplish this, however, is one of the perplexing problems for which no entirely satisfactory solution has been found. Darkening the stables by covering the windows with gummy sacks or dark colored paper, and at the same time providing for the circulation of plenty of fresh air, affords relief to cattle from flies while in the barn at milking time. On extremely hot days where pastures are not provided with good shade, it undoubtedly would be best to put the cows into the barn several hours prior to milking time, which not only protects them from flies, but also from the hot sun.

Temporary relief from flies is to be found in applying fly repellents which are offered on the market, and which cost in the neighborhood of $1 per gallon. Temporary relief for a few hours is all that any of these will accomplish.

Spraying the cows with a spray pump immediately after they have come to the stable may be practiced but may taint the milk with the odor of the spray and if the stable is darkened it is perhaps a better plan to spray only when the cows leave the barn for the pasture. The relief which any one of these sprays renders cows undoubtedly makes an investment in these fly repellents worth while and to be recommended.

Some stockmen have used preparations of their own, which they claim to be as effective and much cheaper than those named above. Mixing equal parts of some of the coal tar products and kerosene oil has been practiced and recommended by one of our practical stockmen. This would reduce the cost of the repellent nearly 50 per cent, and would at least be worth trying.

He has a helpful word for all, and we should all be joyful when we have heard his counsel—and yet his advice annoys us.
